Steve,

I just submitted the docuSign terminating Juliana's services. I signed this document terminating her services for my own reasons, not for the reasons you identified in your demand letter to her and her employer.

Let this be written notice that I am not in agreement with you listing, showing, or selling the property without my signature on any documents. Let me know who you now want to use as a realtor so we can get the property listed and work towards a sale as soon as possible.

Melissa
